After featuring on a number of Irish compilations, he released his first EP on Kin Recordings in 2001 followed by a split 7" on Road Relish. The debut album "Days Are What We Live In" was released on Elusive Recordings in 2004. He released "In the Sudden Distance" EP on Zymogen in June 2008 which was followed by the "Remixes" compilation in November 2008. He has performed at Dublin's Lazybird and Ballroom of Romance nights, the Mor festival 2004, The Big Chill festival (UK) in 2002 and 2005, the DEAF festival 2007 and the Electric Picnic festival 2008 and has supported many international acts including Murcof, Four Tet, Lali Puna, Fennesz and Caribou. He also records as Glissen with Kate McKeon.

THE ECHO GARDEN: Set in an acoustic environment suggesting rarefied light, shimmering details a micro-cosmos of activity. The Echo Garden showpieces the latest development in Jimmy's beautiful aesthetic presence. He excels in the manipulation of tiny grains of audio, processed and arranged into a serene micro-ambience. Shards of sunlight, lily pond reflections, dragon fly wings and the warm gentle breeze of existence submerge the listener in a truly engaging experience.
